

WEI ME, HIGH SCHOOL VISITORS!

San Jose State College Spartan Daily

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1946

No. 54

Campus Leaders Welcome Today's Visitors

Welcome, you young folks from the High Schools, welcome to our campus.

We're under a bit of a strain, it were, at the present time, but I hope you'll understand. Actually we're not looking for more students. We're filled up. Still, if you should decide to come to San Jose, you'll be welcome.

But there's a catch in all this. If you live here in town or within commuting distance, well and good, but if you live somewhere else, you'd better bring along a trailer or a pup tent or a big trunk. Rooms are scarce and we don't want you to catch cold. The housing situation now is the worst we have ever encountered. Perhaps you should look into that before you decide.

In any case, we're glad you're here today. Hope you find the trip worth while.

Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie,
President,
San Jose State College,

Hi there, future Spartans—

All of us are really glad that you have the opportunity to visit with us today on our campus, and we hope that you will learn a few of the things that make us so proud of Washington Square.

One of the most important "things" is that we all have a real feeling of belonging—that we are a part of our college. We are pretty sure that this is contagious and that you are susceptible to it.

Every one of you coming to State will have the chance to take an active part in at least one of the many activities which are open to all students—this includes Frosh, too, so you'll be one of us from the start. Some of the activities that you will want to participate in are class functions, and, to be sure, Spardi Gras and Spartan Revelries, our two great annual student extravaganzas.

Once again, we're glad to see you—hope you enjoy the tours.

Pat Cavanagh,
ASB Acting President.

Greetings to High School Seniors:

As hosts to you who are high school seniors, we are happy to furnish any information you are seeking. We realize that you have been well-advised by your counselors. Perhaps our chief contribution will be the information concerning entrance into this college.

You who plan to enter in the Spring quarter have been advised to appear for Personnel tests March 30. If you are planning to enter in the summer or autumn, you should appear in the auditorium at 8 o'clock on June 8. You should be equipped with a fountain pen and several pencils. You should be dressed for your identification photographs. These tests taken in June can be scored so as to supply valuable information for you and your counselor.

We hope to see you enrolled in the courses which you are best able to complete successfully and aid you in a wise choice. We shall make use of these test scores and any other information available. We hope that you will benefit from our visits with our faculty and your views of our equipment.

Dr. James C. DeVoss,
Dean of Upper Division,
Director of Personnel.

Two Games

FRESNO STATE PLAYS SPARTANS HERE TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

The Fresno State college Bulldogs will invade Washington Square tomorrow and Saturday nights to tangle with the Spartan basketballers in the second round of a home and home series.

In the last meeting between the Staters and the Bulldogs the teams split. The Spartans took the first game, 43-35, but the FSC outfit bounced back to take the second contest in an overtime 46-45.

COMPARATIVE RECORDS

The Bulldogs have a record of nine wins against nine losses, with about four games yet to play. Their record just about approaches that of the Spartans, who now have a 13-12 won and lost column.

The Bulldogs, coached by Hal Beatty, have lost two-two-game series to the Aztecs of San Diego State, while the Spartans split with the same Aztec squad when they came to San Jose a few weeks ago.

INDIVIDUAL STARS

Fresno State is led by two flashy forwards, Lou Papac and Vern Randall. Papac has been the offensive standout all season for the Bulldogs, while Randall has his "on and off" nights.

Center Len Sondergard scored 18 points in the two night stand against the Aztecs, and was a very effective rebound man. Sondergard was instrumental in the Bulldogs' second night win over the Spartans in their last meeting.

PRELIMINARY GAMES

Both tomorrow's and Saturday night's games will be played in the Spartan gym. A preliminary game will be scheduled for both contests.

CAGERS WIN

In an overtime period Coach Wati McPherson's Spartan basketball team defeated the Merchant Marine from San Mateo in that city last night. The final score was 46-45. Fred Lindsey dropped in the winning basket for San Jose in the last 30 seconds of play.

USO VALENTINE DANCE TONIGHT

A USO Valentine formal will be given by the college USO girls at the Plaza hut tonight from 7:45 to 11 o'clock.

Girls, attired in their gayest formals, and sailors will dance to the music of Orin "Fess" Blattner and his orchestra.

Refreshments consisting of heart-shaped cookies and other specialties will be served to the hungry guests.

According to Audrey Fisher, chairman of the Thursday night dances, clever decorations will carry out the Valentine theme.

Religious Emphasis Week Starts Monday

Beginning this Sunday evening, the third annual Religious Emphasis Week will run through next Thursday, February 21.

Sponsored by the Student Christian Council, representing all college-age protestant young people's groups and the Student Christian association, the week will be highlighted by a Sunday evening student church service, boarding house bull sessions with visiting leaders, noon chapel services and afternoon discussion teas.

Thursday evening at a banquet, students will be especially privileged to hear Dr. Adolphe Keller of Geneva, Switzerland, a representative of the World Council of Churches.

The week will be opened Sunday (Continued on Page 4)

500 Students Invade SJS Campus To Be Introduced To College Life This Morning; Four Groups To Be Given Conducted Tours

"Visiting Day" starts today with an expected 525 high school students from Abraham Lincoln, San Jose and Technical high schools meeting together in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 8:30. Dr. Thomas W. MacQuarrie, president of the college will greet the students on this first "Visiting Day" in the history of the college.

Schedule

Schedule for the visiting high school seniors, as released by the Personnel office, is as follows:

At 8:30 high school seniors will assemble in the Morris Dailey auditorium for a short meeting.

At 9:45 students will leave the auditorium in groups of four and will make tours of the campus and through the Library, the Natural Science building, the Men's gym and the Art and Home Economics buildings.

SIGNS HELP

At 10:45 students will reassemble in the auditorium and will choose the departments which they wish to visit. Signs will be placed in the auditorium before which each group will gather. The students will be taken to the various departments by selected guides.

The rooms and offices in the various departments where they will meet department heads and faculty members are listed below:

THE WHERE-WHEN

Art—room 1 of the Art building; Commerce—room 139; Education and teacher training—room 155; Engineering and Aeronautics—119; English—room 34A of the Home Economics building; Home Economics—room 17 of the Home Economics building.

Industrial Arts—office of the Industrial Arts building; Journalism—Publications office, room 17; Library—office of the Library; Modern Languages—room 25A; Music—room 107 of the Music building; Mathematics—office.

Natural Science—room 210 of the Science building; Occupational Therapy—room 31 of the Science building, basement work shop; Police—room 216 of the Science building; Psychology and Philosophy—room 114; Physical Education (men)—office in the Men's gym; Physical Education (women)—classroom in the Women's gym; Social science—office; Speech and Drama—room 53; Junior college and transfer students—room 107.

After the assembly the high school seniors will leave the auditorium and divide into four groups which will be captained by Hugh Johnston, Nancy Lynn, Emerson "Doc" Arends, and Pat Cavanaugh. These students will lead the four groups about the campus orienting them in the manner of the guides on Freshman Orientation day and take them through the Library, the Natural Science building, the Men's gym, the Art and the Home Economics buildings.

The visiting students will then return to the Morris Dailey auditorium where they will again divide into smaller groups which will visit the various departments. Guides for these visits will be the Spartan Spears, Black Masque, the Student Council and 40 freshman students.

REVELRIES STARTS THREE-NIGHT RUN WEEK FROM TODAY

By DAVE WEBSTER

"Prometheus on the Loose," 1946 edition of Spartan Revelries, will start its three night run in Morris Dailey auditorium just one week from tonight.

Next Thursday, February 21, the curtain will rise at 8:15 for San Jose State's annual all-student musical comedy, complete with girls, original music, fast routines, gaggers, chorines, specialty acts, appeal, flashy costumes, pulchritude, original sets and lighting. The show has everything it takes to make a riotous gag-fest, a fast moving hour and a half of fun and entertainment.

Tickets for Revelries are on sale in the Business office, with the prices set at 75 cents for members of the Associated Students and faculty members. General admission is $1.

Written and directed by Al Johnson, "Prometheus on the Loose" takes place during ancient Greek times in the city of Sparta but beyond the setting any resemblance to the Golden Age is little more than coincidental.

Class Elections Tomorrow; Candidates Announced

FRESHMEN

Freshmen will go to the polls tomorrow to elect their class officers and council representatives. The candidates chosen will hold office for the remainder of the year.

SOPHOMORES

Stephen Voorhees, sophomore class president, asks all sophomores to turn out at the polls tomorrow and vote for their favorite candidates, as it is up to the students to elect the officers they wish to represent them.

At a meeting of the sophomore class Monday noon nominations for class officers were held under the direction of Emerson Arends, student body council representative.

Nominations were as follows: president, Doug Romney, Dan Weck; vice president, Jim Bartolomeoni; secretary, Stephen Voorhees, Beverly Davis, Jocelyn Kapp; treasurer, C. D. Pettis, Marilyn Ebner, Phil Robertson, Bev Clay.

JUNIORS

The entire Student Body will elect tomorrow one of the four students running for the post of Junior justice, Stella Barreto, Bill Shaw, Marcella Brodofsky and Mary Lou Allen are the candidates.

In addition, the junior class alone will elect officers for the rest of the year. For president they will choose between George Milias, who is running for reelection, Jackie Popp, and Nancy Duncan.

Candidates for vice president are Betty Doyle, Nadine McNeill, and Fred Bonar. Kathie Landis and Maxine Lannin vie for the position of secretary, and Lou Carlar, Cecile Monahan, and Jessie Steinnagle are competing for treasurer.

SENIORS

Twelve candidates are running for senior class officers. Contending for the position of president are: Lee Ross, liberal arts major from Burbank; Marge Hopper, math major from Shandon; and Cliff Fandom, a PE major.

Running for vice president are: Georgine Bihlman, PE major; Roberta Thompson, in teacher training; Laverne Knapp, commerce major; and Chickie Hayes, also in teacher training.

The secretary will be either Vivi Xerogeanes, Joan Ross, or Edwina Scilacci. Gwen Bozarth, and Connie Booher will enter the race for treasurer.

There will be no Senior Orientation meeting today!

The Red Boll Weevil

Colleges and universities the world over are the incubators of embryonic intellect; they develop the highest form of society: the scholars and thinkers. The latter may likened to a bud of the cotton plant; destined to burst forth in snowy glory on the highest plane of civilization. As the boll weevil is the plague of the cotton, so is the Communist youth movement a disease to the institutions of higher learning in America.

In California recently we have seen the Red boll weevil at work on several campuses: the American Youth for Democracy movement on the UCLA campus and the subversive activities of the Merriam and Haldane clubs at the University of California. The latter have stirred up the most trouble. Their vicious pattern is all too clear to those who stop and think for a moment.

First: the Communists at Cal painted a red hammer and sickle on Wheeler hall and stirred up the old resentment of the general student body and faculty. The Regents of the university took protective steps by issuing a resolution that "any member of the faculty or student body seeking to alter our American government by other than constitutional means . . . on proof of such charge shall be subject to dismissal."

Second step: the Communists began to howl that they and the students at Cal were being persecuted by a Fascist Regency. They denied the Wheeler hall episode and other later acts of vandalism on the campus. They are attempting to become martyrs in the eyes of students everywhere, by promoting their so-called Academic Freedom Struggle.

To people familiar with world-wide Communist movements, the above has the same mold: an unwanted minority attempting to control by the violent overthrow of the standing majority, in conjunction with the liberal use of fact-twisting propaganda.

The true American has nothing but contempt for these Communists.
 —Robert E. Pearson

Move Over, Please!

The Student Body at San Jose State college has not lacked much of doubling in the past year. By February, 1947, if present trends and influx continue, we will have nearly tripled our enrollment of the war years.

The advent of such a sudden increase has placed an enormous strain on all the facilities of San Jose State. To help alleviate this strain we have been forced to use each and every class room and laboratory to the fullest extent, which has meant, in some cases, noon classes, and inconvenient hours for faculty members.

The State Legislature has allotted us roughly 3½ million dollars for campus buildings, including dorms, women's gym, music building, engineering building, administration building, speech building, student union, and additions to the Library and Men's gym, which will be constructed in the order named.

Dr. MacQuarrie states that we cannot hope to have these additions to our campus for two or three years because of the scarcity of labor and the proper materials to meet the regulations of the State Division of Architecture, the Fire Marshall, the School Housing Laws, and our own desire to construct buildings of which we can be proud.

Until such time, then, we will be forced to tax our present facilities to an even greater extent, which will perhaps mean 7 o'clock classes, doubling-up of faculty offices to accommodate additional members, inter-changing of laboratories and flexibility of faculty schedules.

"If the new students can find housing for themselves," states Dr. MacQuarrie, "we will continue to enroll them, and do whatever is necessary to provide adequate classes for them."

—Berne Deane Durgy

THIS AND THAT

By DALE BOWER

Slim Dr. Earl Atkinson, Commerce department head, was walking down the hall yesterday when he met college President Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, who asked enviously: "How do you keep your waist line down? Do you drill?" and then added quite confidentially, "I'm 10 pounds over

Evidently the president has availed himself of the services of the Health office to learn this information.

Over a pineapple sundae Dr. Atkinson told me quite confidentially, "Bananas grow upside down so the monkeys can pick them easier."

Is that what they teach in the Commerce department?

What do you think of the "hair-cut" the Climbing Fig in the Quad is getting? I have heard that this is the first one in three years. It's about time. Now I can see that the gable in the north end

THRUST and PARRY

INTERFRAT TROPHY

It seems that the Student Council intends to appropriate Student Body funds to purchase a trophy for the best team in the Interfraternity League. This seems to me to be a misuse of funds, for several reasons.

The majority of male students are not in fraternities. I'm not, and I would rather not pay to support the organizations to which I do not feel any responsibility. Then there is the fact that the fraternity teams have refused to open their competition to other college student organizations, one or two of which have tried to take part in the interfrat schedule.

The fraternity men may now come out and say that they will be glad to give other squads a chance at the cup, but they will hold the advantage of having played several games against good competition, and will be in far better shape than any opposition teams could be—whipped together at the last moment and having been unable to obtain games with other college teams.

I'm not against the fraternity league. I think that it is a good thing, though not very sportsmanlike in its competition setup, and I am very much of the opinion that the league should have its trophy, but I don't believe that the fraternity members should have it paid for by the Student Body! If they want a trophy, let THEM pay for it, instead of taking the money from availability to democratic and liberal student organizations.

—Daniel William Weck.

INTERESTS OF STUDENT VISITORS ARE VARIED

Representative of the graduating seniors from the high schools in numerous communities throughout America, the 500 students visiting State college today illustrate the interests and ambitions of the citizens who will be carrying on the work of the world in later years.

Surprisingly, in this new world of atomic bombs, labor troubles, and unbelievable progress in science and man's ingenuity, the interests of these students do not always tend toward the fields which will be most in demand in the future.

ONLY TEN POTENTIAL TEACHERS

Ten students only are interested in teacher training, four in mathematics, one in librarianship and four in the modern languages. Where trained men such as those who built the atomic bomb are more in demand, only 44 students are interested in the natural sciences.

Not all students are equipped, either by personality or ability, to enter the fields which will lead in tomorrow's progress. Not all students will be able even to enter the fields upon which they have their hearts set. The demand for specially trained people in certain fields fluctuates greatly.

UNIVERSAL DEMAND FOR TEACHERS

From Miss Doris Robinson in the Placement Office, an employment bureau maintained by the college, we hear that graduates have been easily and consistently placed in the teaching positions. There is a universal demand for teachers in all subjects, according to Dr. Elmer Staffebach, head of the Education department. This demand is being met today in the state of California alone by more than 10,000 emergency teaching credentials issued to sometimes incompletely or illtrained teachers. The demand will not be adequately filled for at least seven years.

DECREASE IN TEACHER CANDIDATES

Statistics quoted by Dr. William Sweeney of the Education department show that while in 1938 there were 12,000 candidates for teacher training in all of the schools in the state, there are only 2,500 training now. Off set against this decrease of prospective teachers is an increase in 150,000 children in California plus a large influx from other states during the past few years. The dangers to our future security due to the lack of well, or even adequately trained citizens is obvious.

Students entering State this coming fall as teacher training candidates will have the opportunity of obtaining their secondary credential permitting them to teach in high schools here at state instead of having to transfer to other institutions.

PROSPECTS VARY

Prospects for students who are planning to enter other fields vary. The 66 students who are interested in Art, for instance, should remember to discover what type of Art they are suited to and whether the demand warrants the time and effort they will spend in training. According to Miss Robinson, graduating Art students more or less have to find their own opportunities unless they want to teach. These opportunities can be broadened if they combine their work with another subject such as merchandising or advertising.

"Commerce is a good field," she stated, "because the student can go into the business world if he doesn't want to teach."

Industrial Arts, Physical education and English are other fields with opportunities for teaching. Dr. Staffebach explained that even the usually over-crowded profession of English teaching is seeking re-enforcements.

Librarianship, for public school libraries, and Home Economics are two other important courses. State college is one of the few institutions in this area which offers the special secondary credential in Home Economics. Majors in this subject may prepare for work as a dietitian or enter experimental food laboratories.

EMPHASIS HERE ON TEACHING

State was originally a teacher training institution and naturally the emphasis is still laid somewhat on that course. However, the many well-equipped departments are able to offer training for nearly every vocation. If not complete training is possible as in the case of students interested in law, medicine, nursing and other more specialized professions, at least the preparatory courses for these vocations are equal to the best.

Whatever the aims of the young visitors, whether they come in State or plan to go to other universities or professional schools, the choice of their life's work is important. Clearly a case for wise counseling, this decision still depends upon the student himself.

WORLD IS ONE OF HIGH COMPETITION

The next few years are important for the high school graduate attending an institution of higher learning. He must keep alert to the demands required of the person entering his chosen field. He must remember that the world he will be entering is one of high competition and not all of it fair. He should plan to take time out to observe and think about his place in the scheme of things.

With colleges equipped to help the student with teaching facilities and counselling help, there should be no instance in which a student graduates after four years of college and finds that he is not prepared to take his place in the world.

NOTICE

Anyone interested in a ski trip spring vacation or in the forming of a San Jose State Ski club meet in room 29 Friday at 12:30 o'clock, or see Wayne Hawkins or Lloyd Swenson.

NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of Freshmen and Sophomore committees for the March 15 dance Friday at 12 o'clock in room 24. All committee members should plan to attend.

LACK OF DEFENSE CAUSES CAGERS' LOSS TO ST. MARY'S AT KEZAR

By JERRY VROOM

It was simply a case of too much Trude Sperry and not enough defense in San Jose's cage loss to the St. Mary's Gaels, 60 to 54, Tuesday night in San Francisco's Kezar Pavilion.

Sperry, former San Francisco prep star, was deadly as he pumped home nine field goals and six free throws to tally 24 points and thwart the Spartan cause. He received more than a little aid in the shooting of Rial and Galvin, who dropped 18 and 14 markers through the hoop, respectively.

STILL MAGGETTI

San Jose was in the game all the way, however, as Ed Maggetti continued his high scoring tactics to pace the local quintet. He connected with seven fielders and four charity tosses for an 18 point total.

The lead changed hands several times and St. Mary's held the advantage at halftime, 35 to 31, but the Gold and White clad quintet came back strongly in the second canto to gain the lead for a few short minutes.

THE CRISIS

St. Mary's then shifted into high with its fast break offense and the San Jose defense relaxed just long enough for the Gaels to score the necessary points to carry them through to the final gun.

The victors will invade San Jose for a return engagement next Wednesday night (February 20) and the Spartans are gunning for revenge in that tilt. Both teams are very evenly matched and the encounter promises to be one of the best played here this season.

GAMMA PHI, DTO VIE FOR TITLE TONIGHT

Gamma Phi Sigma and Delta Theta Omega will meet tonight on the hardwood in a game that will probably decide who will be the 1946 champions in the current fraternity league race.

The games will be played in the Spartan gym starting at 6:30 when DSG takes on APO for the "cellar title." The respective clubs are in fourth and fifth place at this writing.

OFFICIALS

The feature game will be officiated by varsity basketball Captain Bert Robinson, and Bill Perry, football ace.

Gamma Phi is now one game ahead of DTO, having won three and lost none. DTO is right behind them with a 2-1 record, and if they should take the measure of the league leaders tonight, a play-off would be necessary.

1945 WINNERS

Beta Chi Sigma, last year's champs, ended up this year with two wins and two losses. They downed APO and DTO and lost to DSG and Gamma Phi.

The league leaders will be led by Jamin and Stulman, who have directed the teams' attack this season. They are ably supported by Young and Smith, who were instrumental in Gamma Phi's 25-

21 win over Beta Chi last week.

For DTO it will be Eli Bariteau, league leading scorer and outstanding offensive star. Bariteau, one of Northern California's most promising golfers, has been the big scoring threat for DTO all season. Last week against APO he scored 19 points to take high point honors for the evening.

Hooton and O'Brien also help spark the DTO attack, each having scored four points in last week's win.

Here are the league standings before tonight's final round.

Team	Won	Lost
Gamma Phi Sigma	3	0
Delta Theta Omega	2	1
Beta Chi Sigma	2	2
Delta Sigma Gamma	1	2
Alpha Pi Omega	0	3

A play-off will be held some time next week in the event of a DTO win tonight.

SEVENTH OF LECTURES

"Pan-America, to Compete or to Co-operate," will be the subject of Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president-emeritus of Mills college, who speaks in the Little Theater Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the seventh lecture of her 10-week series.

Following her resignation from the presidency at Mills college two years ago, Dr. Reinhardt spent nearly a year in South America visiting the various Pan-American countries.

She will bring to her audience a fresh and enlightened viewpoint on the Good Neighbor policy, and present highlights on Mexico, Brazil, Cuba, Panama, Peru, Colombia, Honduras, Argentina, Chile, El Salvador, Uruguay, Costa Rica, Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Bolivia, Paraguay, Nicaragua, Guatemala, and Ecuador.

Tickets to the lecture may be purchased at the door for 50 cents, according to Mrs. Bertha Rice of the San Jose Garden Forum, which is sponsoring the lecture series.

Titles of Dr. Reinhardt's remaining lectures are: The Arab Federation—an International Portent; The Little Nations in Peace and War; and The United States—Leader or Follower.

Lost-Found Bureau Collection Growing

Once again students are reminded of the presence of a Lost and Found office at the college. Every day various articles are turned in, only to remain unclaimed until the end of the year—when they are sold.

Just turned in recently are: a rooster's hat, a charm bracelet, two identification bracelets and a rain coat. Other articles held in the Lost and Found include glasses, gloves, raincoats, and many books.

Students who have lost something should go to the Lost and Found and describe the lost article, but the number of articles on hand show that this is not what is happening.

The Lost and Found bureau is in the Information office.

day evening with the student church service at Grace Baptist church, 10th and San Fernando streets. Speaker will be Chaplain Jesse Lyons, acting chaplain at Stanford university, on the topic "Which Side Are You On?" Special music will be provided by the a capella choir of 58 voices, under the direction of Mr. William Erlendsen.

Special guests during the week will be the discussion leaders who will answer invitations to boarding houses to lead "bull sessions" with students. Mrs. Anne Kern, secretary of the UCLA student YWCA, Miss Minna Hansen, secretary of the Student YWCA for Asilomar region, and Bruce Maguire, secretary of the Student YMCA in the Pacific Southwest, will be on campus through the week.

NEWMAN CLUB PARTY TONIGHT

Culminating Newman club's winter membership drive, Newmanites will hold a Valentine party tonight at 7:30 at Newman hall.

Following a short meeting, refreshments will be served, entertainment provided and dancing will take place.

"Applications for membership have been sent to all the Catholic students of San Jose State college and we expect approximately 200 students to be at the party Thursday," said Joe Moore, newly elected president of the club.

Eileen Mulcahy, vice president, is general chairman of the party, assisted by Bobbie Hill, Joanne Hartzell, Mary Lou Cycle and Mary Rose Schirle.

Local Art Work Receives Honors

Two San Jose State art students and a graduate recently received the rare honor of having their work awarded recognition at a professional exhibition.

Miss Mildred Brown, former student, received second prize in water color, and Mrs. V. Miller, special art student, contributed a painting to the show.

Both paintings were done during the artists' vacations at the coast last summer.

Dr. Marques Reitzel, Art department head, said, "This is indeed a rare honor accorded our department and we are very proud."

Junior Miss Workers

Anyone interested in working on the costume committee for the comedy, "Junior Miss," to be presented on March 7, 8, and 9, is asked to see Miss Marie Carr or Mr. J. Wendell Johnson, director.

McGill, Hillyer In Revelries Lead

The story concerns the trials and tribulations of two down-and-out showmen, played by Ken McGill and 'Unc' Hillyer. A gent by the name of Simon Vulcan Legree (nee Al Chasuk) is threatening to foreclose their mortgage if the rent isn't paid—and this time there's no one to save Grandmother and the Beautiful Heroine, because they aren't in the show, so the heroes are hard pressed to put together a show to bring in the money to pay the rent to get them out of trouble so the play can end.

In the course of complications Father Time, played by Lee Dugan, does his share. Also prominent are Jerry Swarner as Mercury, a fast worker, and Jean Grenbeaux as the Author. Nero, with a bass fiddle, played by Tommy Brocato, "Moe" Richardson as the Soothsayer, and "Babe" Foletti and Sherman Thomas, bartender and messenger, respectively, complete the cast.

A lot of credit should go to hard working committee members of Revelries. Carol Johnson, Marge Cornwell and Dave Wool are designing and making original costumes for the show. Under Production chief Dale Bower, set construction is scheduled for completion Saturday. Props, under Chairman Margaret Moore, are being gathered by Carmen Farr, Joan Benson, Virginia Baker, Marge McNeil and Carolyn Hackman.

NOTICE

Members of Student Book Exchange meet in the Pub. office tomorrow at 12 noon to have picture taken. Please be there promptly.

STEPHENS HEADS INTERFRATERNITY

Ken Stephens, member of Alpha Pi Omega fraternity and business manager of the Spartan Daily, succeeds Bob Eldridge as president of the Interfraternity council.

Bill Shaw, member of Gamma Phi Sigma, takes over the vice presidency. Bob Pearson of Delta Sigma Gamma is the new secretary, and treasurer is Bob Hines of Delta Theta Omega.

SCHOLARSHIP

Sal Caruso of Beta Chi Sigma was appointed chairman of the Scholastic committee. Each quarter the council awards a cup to the fraternity with the highest scholarship.

Stephens reappointed Bob Stuhlman of Gamma Phi Sigma as athletic chairman. It has been traditional for the fraternities to participate in competition between themselves in softball, basketball, touch football, and track. This year's basketball is winding up next week with Gamma Phi still in the lead.

DANCE

The Interfraternity-Intersociety dance is scheduled for March 9. Wes Nunes, Delta Sigma Gamma, is co-chairman with "Skip" Scilacci of Intersociety.

Ben Watkins' band will play for the closed dance, which is formal, for members of fraternities or sororities only. Nunes secured the band.

Glen Du Bois, member of Alpha Pi Omega, is co-chairman of the bid committee.

The Interfraternity council now has a representation of five fraternities. Sigma Gamma Omega, which is reorganizing next quarter, will be represented at that time.
